Dear Judge Forrest:

About twenty minutes ago, while eating dinner, I broke a tooth (and appear to have lost a fairly significant part of it). It's toward the back, so it's not visible, but it's on the same side where I developed an infection last July that put me in the hospital for three days (and required the extraction of two teeth). That is the part that does concern me some. It's not particularly painful, although it was sensitive when I irrigated it with water in case there were food particles stuck there. Obviously, I would very much like to get to the dentist as quickly as possible but of course there's the ongoing trial. I'm confident I could get in to see my dentist tomorrow morning at 9 a.m. but don't know anything beyond that. I also don't know how I will feel in the morning. If anyone (including AUSA's) sees this e-mail tonight, please let me know everyone's position on how to proceed.

Respectfully submitted,
